Final preparations underway for 'Clean Our Beach Day'

A final meeting was held Wednesday for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Clean Our Beach scheduled for Saturday.

The event is sponsored by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in cooperation with the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Chamber of Commerce, Extension Service and Sand Beach Advisory Council.

John Scaffide and Ellis Cuevas are chairmen of the event, with some 18 subcommittees.

Garden clubs, civic and veterans organizations have also endorsed the clean up effort which has been in a planning stage for six weeks.

The primary purpose for the Clean Our Beach Day is for the removal of objects such as bottles, cans and sharp objects below the normal tide line, Scaffide indicated.

Feb. 22 was selected as cleanup day because a low tide is scheduled for that morning, Cuevas said.

Cleanup is planned from Washington Street in Bay St. Louis to Clermont Harbor.

Registration will be from 9 to 10 a.m. at the staging area located behind the American Legion Home on Coleman Avenue, with Darlene Underwood, county home economist, as chairman.

Participants are requested to bring boots, buckets and gloves.

The area to be covered will be designated and teams will receive assigned areas. Chairmen for the assignments are Jerry Heitzmann and Dusty Rhodes, who will provide maps.

Janelle Kern is chairman, with Dorothy Sutton, co-chairman of a poster contest being conducted in area schools, judging is to be held today.

Prizes will be awarded for the winning posters.

Hancock County supervisors, Bay St. Louis and Waveland crews will pick up the debris collected.

Hancock Deputy Sheriff David Garcia is in charge of communications, which will receive assistance from Bay St. Louis and Waveland patrolmen.

From noon until 2 p.m. refreshments and a program will be held on Beach Boulevard between Coleman Avenue and Terrace Street.

Drawings for prizes donated by local merchants will be held for participants, according to Jackie Kidd, chairman.

Cuevas and Scaffide stated they were very pleased with the assistance being offered by elected officials as well as from the many organizations of the county.

Both say they are 'keeping their fingers crossed' that it will not rain on Saturday.

Ray Kidd is in charge of refreshments, and cokes will be supplied by Gulfport Coca-Cola Bottling Company. Hot dogs will also be available for participants.

Sutton is also publicity chairman and has placed posters throughout the area in local businesses in addition to schools.

Martha Van Peski is in charge of contacting church and youth groups. Buddy Klein is in charge of the public address system.

Robert Kane is finance chairman. Jeff Taylor, coordinator for the Hancock County Technical Advisory Council, is in charge of registration forms.

"We hope at least 400 persons participate in the Hancock County Clean Our Beach Day," Cuevas and Scaffide added.

SAMPLE COLLECTION—Martha Van Peski and Robert Kane check type of items on agenda for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Clean Our Beach Day set for Saturday. Van Peski is the church and youth coordinator, and Kane is finance chairman for the community clean up project. Registration will be held from 9 to 10 a.m. at the American Legion Home on Coleman Avenue for groups, individuals, clubs, and organizations interested in participating in the below high tide clean up. The project is sponsored by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in cooperation with the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Chamber of Commerce, County Extension Service, and the Sand Beach Advisory Council. Citizens are requested to bring boots, gloves, and buckets. Cokes and hot dogs will be served to participants at noon. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Bay school superintendent interviews to continue

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Final interviews of applicants for the position of superintendent of the Bay Municipal School District are expected to be conducted Saturday.

The school board and the superintendent search committee interviewed six applicants last week.

The remainder of the applicants are expected to be interviewed this week, Walter Turcotte, board president, said Monday during the school board meeting.

Turcotte said earlier reports that 10 applicants were being interviewed were incorrect.

"All 11 applicants will be interviewed by the school board," he added.

Search Committee Chairman Betty Diboll declined to comment on reports that not all applicants would be interviewed by the committee.

Assistant Superintendent Robert Magee, who reportedly will not be interviewed by the committee, also declined to comment.

The search committee has narrowed its list of acceptable applicants to seven, and the school board is considering an additional four candidates for the post.

Magee is among the four candidates added by the school board but is not among the search committee's seven finalists.

Bay school board candidates field questions from voters

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Answering questions on topics ranging from consolidation to the need of increased parental involvement, the three candidates for the Bay St. Louis school board spoke Tuesday at a public forum.

More than 50 interested parents, teachers and concerned citizens attended the forum which was hosted by Bay-Waveland Parents for Quality Education.

Candidates Clarence Harris, John Mason and Linda Penrose agreed that consolidation may be necessary but that much more information was needed.

"I don't think that it is something that will be done overnight, but over time will probably be in the best interest of the school district," Harris said.

Mason said he would like to see a task force organized to investigate the advantages and disadvantages of the prospect.

The candidates also agreed that there was a need for increased parental involvement to provide input to aid the school board in making decisions.

"Without input from parents and teachers there is no way the school board can make impartial and unbiased decisions," Penrose said.

Harris added that he would also like to see a workshop scheduled to help parents understand their role in the education system.

Several questions regarding the superintendent selection process were also put to the candidates.

Penrose, a member of the superintendent search committee, said after interviewing six applicants for the position she had heard about a lot of things going on in other school systems that she would like to see here.

Harris, also a committee member, said if the new superintendent was selected just from the applicants already interviewed the district would have an excellent man for the job.

The candidates also were all in favor of the no pass, no play rule with limited exception.

For athletes who put forth an effort to make the grade but are unable, exceptions should be made if sports is the only reason they stay in school, Penrose said.

Harris added that exceptionally good athletes could be enrolled in a special program to insure that they get basic educational skills.

Mason said athletes not academically inclined should be enrolled in a manual skills program such as vocational-technical studies.

Mason was also questioned about why his school age children are not attending the public schools. He told the group in addition to a public kindergarten not being available when his daughter was of school age, he was a strong believer in the importance of a Christian education.

The school board election will be March 11 to fill the seat to be vacated by Walter Turcotte.

Local officers complete law enforcement course

Four Hancock County law enforcement officers recently completed a training seminar in Mississippi criminal law and police officer civil liability.

Those receiving certificates for completing the course included Bill Pepperman, Leo Ladner and Albert Beihl of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and Kent Malley of Waveland Police Department, according to Joe Ray McNeal, assistant troop commander of Gulfport Troop K, Mississippi Highway Patrol.

McNeal, a former instructor for Mississippi Law Enforcement Training Academy in Jackson, served as instructor for the 20-hour course, which was coordinated by Pearl River County Sheriff Lorence Lumpkin and approved by Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Participants included about 30 officers from six police departments

Hancock Miss Chamber picked

Miss Connally Compretta, 18, has been chosen to serve as the 1986 Miss Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, according to Sherlyn

Breland, chamber special events chairman.

Miss Compretta, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Compretta of Bay St. Louis, is currently a freshman at the University of Mississippi, majoring in business.

She is a member of Phi Mu social sorority and serves as the secretary for the associated student body.

In high school, her honors included an accounting award. She was member of the St. Stanislaus homecoming court, the Project Do organization and an all-star cheerleader.

"Connally will be representing the chamber at various functions during the year," said Breland, "including the St. Patrick's Day Parade, the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo Princess Pageant, and the Mississippi Hospitality Pageant."

"We would also like to thank the area banks which supported her," continued Breland. "They are Security Savings & Loan, People's Federal Savings & Loan, Hancock Bank, Gulf National Bank and Merchants Bank."

Joiner promises help with hazard

BY DENA BISNETTE
The State Highway Department has made a verbal commitment to members of the Henderson Point-Pass Christian Isles Civic Association concerning problems at the intersection of Bay View Road and US-90.

According to Association Spokesman Gerald Roux, Mississippi Highway Patrol records indicate that the intersection has been the scene of eight fatalities since 1975, with the most recent one reported a few weeks ago.

Roux said he feels there has been an increase in traffic through the intersection since the highway department last did a traffic count in 1975.

He attributed most of the increase to expansion of activities at National Space Technology Laboratories, which employs numerous Pass Christian and Henderson Point area residents, and to increased summer tourism.

"Over the past few years, Bay View has almost become a new thoroughfare," Roux explained, adding that the intersection is at the end of an overpass that adds to the danger from high speed traffic on US-90.

Problems with the intersection include a turning bay in the eastbound lane of US-90 which is so short traffic backs up during rush hours, sometimes overflowing into one of the normal traffic lanes.

Complaints include lack of enough space for a waiting vehicle between the highway's east and westbound lanes, making the intersection difficult to cross.

The problem is particularly severe when a vehicle is unable to cross the entire highway on its first attempt.

In addition, the median is poorly marked and some of the fatalities have occurred when vehicles have either hit or crossed the median, particularly at night or in foggy or hazy weather.

One of the local residents who attended the meeting, Les Bounds, said he feels that problem may have

Bill would aid in bad check recovery

JACKSON— District attorneys would be authorized to assist merchants and private citizens in obtaining restitution for bad checks under a bill introduced by Representative Mack Loyd Wadkins of Iuka.
Wadkins said the legislation was patterned after an Alabama law which already has had a significant impact in that state although it has only been in effect for a year.
He said bad checks have been reduced about 500 percent in Alabama since the law was passed.
Wadkins said more than 70 legislators joined him in sponsoring the bill in the Mississippi House. He said it had the support of the Attorney General's office and Mississippi Retail Merchants Association.
The bill would establish a worthless check unit in the District Attorney offices to assist in recovery and distribution of restitution from people accused of issuing bad checks. In addition, the measure prescribes a procedure for collection of restitution and establishes a $40 fee for processing complaints.

The fee would be paid by the person accused of issuing the worthless check and provide a new revenue source for the operation of the District Attorney offices, Wadkins said.
Under the legislation, Wadkins said, the complainant would first notify the person accused of issuing the bad check and request restitution, along with a $10 service charge.
If no settlement is made within a specified period of time, the matter would be turned over to the District Attorney who would begin restitution proceedings.
The measure also provides a graduated schedule of penalties for violating bad check laws.
"We believe this legislation, if enacted, would discourage the issuance of bad checks as well as provide an improved system of restitution," Wadkins said.

GI insurance to pay dividend

The Veterans Administration reports 22,114 Mississippi veterans who have kept their GI insurance policies in force will share a record high annual dividend distribution in 1988 totaling $6,160,000.
Jackson VA Regional Office Director Samuel J. Maraman said the higher dividend payout is due to lower death rates among policyholders and high interest earnings on the insurance funds' investments.
Nationally, policyholders will receive dividends of $905 million, $106.2 million more than the $798.8 million paid out in 1985.
Each policyholder will receive the 1986 dividend in the month of the anniversary date of the individual policy. No application is necessary. Although there are several methods of payment, most policyholders prefer a dividend check.
Government life insurance has been issued through various periods starting Jan. 1, 1919, through May 2, 1966, to veterans of World War I and II and the Korean Conflict. The only VA-administered program now open to new issues is Service Disabled Veterans Insurance. It is available, without dividends, to veterans with service on or after April 25, 1951, who have a service connected disability.
During 1986, the 394 holders of United States Government Life Insurance (USGLI) will receive an average dividend of $272 out of a total distribution of $107,000. These policies were issued mainly during World War I.

Some 19,283 World War II veterans who kept their National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) in force will receive an average $285 dividend.
The total dividend distribution on these policies is $5,504,000.
The newer Veterans Special Life Insurance (VSLI) will pay out a total of $449,000 in dividends to 1,695 policyholders, for an average dividend of $260.
The Veterans Reopened Insurance (VRI) program will pay $210,000 in dividends to 742 policyholders averaging from $243 to $504 depending on the policy issued. In addition to the regular dividend, termination dividends will be paid to VRI policyholders whose policies terminate in 1986 due to death, maturity, or cash surrender.
Dividends for individuals covered under each program will differ according to age, plan selected, and length of time the policy has been in force.
If assistance is desired, veterans may contact the Jackson VA Regional Office between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.
The statewide toll-free number is 1-800-682-5270; in the Gulfport/Biloxi area, call 432-5996.
The Hancock County veterans service office number is 467-2100.

Hears parents' recommendations

Bay school board names '86-87 administrators

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

After a 40-minute executive session the Bay St. Louis School Board approved a list of administrators for the next school year in their meeting Monday.

The vote was 4-1 with board member D. L. Carter voting nay. No reason for the lengthy discussion of administrators was given.

The only change in the current slate of administrators was the additional duty of Early Childhood Coordinator being given to Waveland Elementary Principal James Baldree.

Following the meeting several parents expressed concern over Baldree's appointment saying they feel the job is full-time and that he would not have enough time to devote to the kindergarten program.

"We are concerned that the board made the selection without any input from parents," said Peggy Smith, spokesman of the group.

"We believe that parents haven't been represented in this decision and strongly feel that parents and teachers should have had an opportunity to assist in the formation of kindergarten policies," Smith added.

Superintendent J. D. McCullough said Wednesday, there were several reasons for his recommendation of Baldree.

"The main reason for Baldree's selection is because he began in December of 1982 attending seminars and workshops with me, in order to become familiar with the groundwork of this program," McCullough said.

He added that Baldree also met more of the requirements listed in kindergarten guidelines than anyone else in the district.

Another plus in Baldree's selection is because he is the principal of the elementary school where the kindergarten classes will be located, McCullough said.

With the addition of students expected to register in the kindergarten program, Waveland Elementary will still have approximately 50 students less than are currently enrolled at North Bay Elementary.

"Although there will be a lot of special emphasis on the kindergarten program, I feel it will be similar in many ways to just adding another class," McCullough said.

He also said that he had full confidence in Baldree's ability to handle the additional responsibilities but feels should the need arise, the board would give him necessary assistance.

Other administrators approved for the 1986-87 school year include Robert Magee, assistant superintendent; Frank Ladner, Bay High principal; Willys Rhodes, Bay High assistant principal; W. J. Cameron, Bay Junior High principal; Woods Alliston, Bay Junior High assistant principal; Rogers James, North Bay Elementary principal; and Wilmer Seymour, athletic director.

Also at the Monday meeting, the board authorized Business Manager Garland Cuevas to re-advertise for a telephone system at the junior high school.

Cuevas told the board he believed that an earlier bid on the telephone system by Scientific Tele-Com. of Jackson had been excessively high.

The board also authorized Cuevas to include requests for bids on a telephone system for the high school and stage curtains for the junior high in the advertisement.

After initial investigation Cuevas said he had been informed that the board could purchase a new system for the high school on a lease-purchase agreement for an amount less than currently being paid on the outdated system in use.

The board also heard from Lana Noonan, chairman of the Kindergarten Committee for the Bay-Waveland Parents for Quality Education.

"This will be our children's first experience in their school career, and we think it is safe to say that the lasting impressions of their first school days will contribute to their opinions and development for years to come," Noonan said.

"Our research and experience with educators, parents and interested citizens of this community confirm the importance of kindergarten in the overall educational process," she continued.

Noonan also told the board that the group found that there are a considerable number of parents interest but generally there was a lack of understanding in the program.

She also presented recommendations to the board from the parents' group including a request to set an official board meeting for review of the kindergarten application before it is mailed to Jackson to meet the Feb. 28 deadline.

The application includes school district plans to implement kindergarten while requesting funding for the operating expenses of the program.

"We feel that this would be the opportunity for you to share with the community your progress thus far in the formulation of the program," Noonan continued.

In response Board President Walter Turcotte announced a meeting had already been scheduled for Monday, Feb. 24 to review the kindergarten program, including the application.

Another recommendation of the group was that the public be made aware of the status of the application after review by the Office for Early Childhood Education at the State Department regarding the required minimum standards and improvements that may be requested by the state.

The final recommendation was for the formation of a Kindergarten Committee including administrators, teachers parents and interested citizens.

In other business the board: —Approved the March 5-6 dates for kindergarten registration.

—Voted to revise the school calendar to add extra days missed because of hurricanes. McCullough said the addition of these two days would not change the May 30 graduation date but would change the last student day to June 3, and the last teacher day to June 4.

—Accepted the resignation of Betty J. Lizana as Chapter I Aide and appointed Jeanne Ray as her replacement.

—Approved a request by the Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission to increase the size of their maintenance shed located at the Tiger Stadium and to erect two backstops in the parking area at the stadium to allow for two additional practice fields.

Bay Council approves three court changes

By DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis City Council has approved three changes concerning City Court.

All three changes were proposed by Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. and were approved or endorsed at Tuesday's council meeting.

The first is a change in location from city hall to the Hancock County Courthouse. The move is allowed by law and has received the approval of Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Frankiewicz said a better location is needed because the meeting room in city hall that has been used for court purposes is too small to adequately separate witnesses from the general public.

The change will probably become effective with the first March court session.

In addition, the new location will provide a more proper courtroom atmosphere, the mayor said.

The second change is also designed to restore formality to the court. Council Attorney John Scafide Jr. has been authorized to select and obtain a judge's robe for City Judge John Chevis Jr.

The third proposal, which was endorsed by the council but did not require a vote of approval, provides a public service program for offenders who wish to work off fines or jail terms through some sort of service to the city, such as cleaning ditches or streets.

The program is similar to one being used by the county.

The judge will assign a specific number of hours to each offender. Work will be supervised by city personnel appointed by the city's director of public works with work records to be provided to the Court.

Program participants, particularly juveniles, will not be allowed to participate in hazardous jobs because the city could be held liable for injuries.

In other business, the council: —Approved the sale of a parcel of land at Second and Union streets to Our Lady of the Gulf Church for use as a playground for Bay Catholic Elementary School;

—Heard reports from Councilmember Lisa Cowand on an unsafe traffic situation at Dunbar Avenue and US-90 and on progress on updating the city animal ordinance;

—Appointed Council members John Wilkerson, James Thriffliey and Cowand to a newly formed committee on industrial development;

—Heard a report from Attorney Lucien Kidd on collections of overdue utility bills;

—Discussed a Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District proposal to borrow money for purchase of three buses in preparation for implementation of kindergarten;

—Heard a report on progress of a program designed to find and repair leaks in the city gas system from Wilkerson and Cowand;

—Approved the mayor's proposal to reassign some employees to different department to make preparations for conversion to a city computer system and improve record keeping, with accompanying budget amendments;

—Appointed Tommy Chapman and Harold Battalora to fill two of the four vacancies on the five-member Board of Adjustments;

—Endorsed Hancock County Clean Our Beach Day and a proposal for four-laning Highway 603; and —Appointed Pat Saucier as deputy registrar of voters.

ACT Test review set Saturday

The University of Southern Mississippi will hold a one-day workshop review Saturday, Feb. 22, for high school juniors and seniors who plan to take the next ACT Test in April.

Special emphasis during the class will be on math review. The class will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. Bill Chaplin will be the instructor.

Registration will be held from 8 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. in the College of Business Administration Building, Room 109. The registration fee prior to the day of the review is $13 and it will be $15 the day of registration.

USM officials emphasized this would be the last review prior to the ACT Test in April.

For more information, contact the USM Division of Lifelong Learning, Southern Station Box 5056, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39406-5056 or telephone 268-4196.

To All His Many Friends and Neighbors:

As you all know, on January 24, 1986, my husband, Judge (Jr.) Frierson died. I do not believe that I would have completely put him at rest, without writing this letter to everyone in Hancock County. Thanking all of you, for being his friend, and showing it, in so many ways.

His interest in people was unique and his belief in the goodness of people was never shattered.

I am again thanking you, in his name and with his hand guiding mine as I write this note of appreciation.

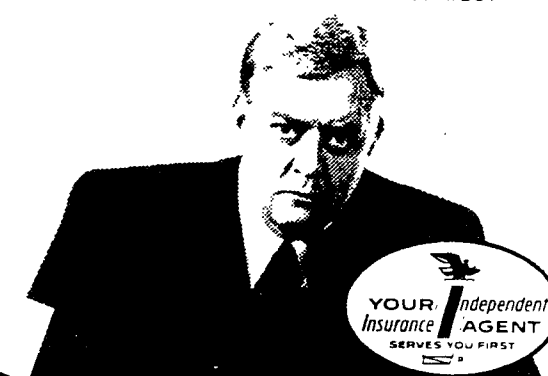

I have lost a husband but we have all lost a most remarkable, understanding friend.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Horatio Frierson, Jr.

Things have been buzzing in preparation for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Clean Our Beach Day scheduled for Saturday.

Efforts will be made to remove such items as glass, cans, sticks, sharp objects, and anything else to make our beaches safer.

The cooperation from our elected officials, businesses, civic and veterans organizations, garden clubs and all are very much appreciated.

We hope to see you Saturday at the Clean Our Beach Day.

While on the subject of beautification, there is a lawn this week which has really caught our eye.

Most lawns are in their worst conditions because of the time of the year, as very little green is visible.

We would like to commend Mrs. John McDonald, North Beach Boulevard on her beautiful green lawn.

It gives us the feeling Spring is not too far off.

I have heard several very good comments on the restoration work being done by Harold Carver on the cottages he owns in the 300 block of Main Street in Bay St. Louis.

These comments have all been very favorable, as he has really improved the buildings' appearances.

Carver also keeps his two stores bright and crisp with a coat of paint and other improvements, as he is always improving their appearances.

Keep up the good work, Harold.

We had an opportunity of hearing Lucile Suchina, National President of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars address local and state VFW and Auxiliary members on Monday.

First we feel it was a great honor to have the National president of such a fine organization visit in our city.

She was a guest of the Theodore Price VFW Post and Auxiliary No. 3253.

A comment made by President Suchina really needs repeating and could be of help for many people.

She said we have many people in this nation who have very good ideas, but keep them to themselves as they are unable to express them to others.

Her recommendation is that every high school should have public speech as a requirement before graduation.

The more I think about her statement, the more I agree with her, as there are many people who are afraid to get up in front of a group and express themselves.

It is our understanding there are some school systems with such programs.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON— Counter-productive as it may have seemed, the move by black members of the House to clog the bill-passing machinery in a "deadline" week by invoking the antiquated constitutional requirement that every bill be read "in full" on final passage, could have long-range positive impact.

The slowdown it produced caused dozens of bills, many of them quite worthwhile, to be left with little hope of survival under a Feb. 13 deadline for floor action on general House bills.

What could well come out of this, however, is a complete reform of the self-imposed "deadlines" for legislative processing which have been handed down as holy writ by a tight little inner circle of legislators going back to the beginning of annual, limited legislative sessions in 1970.

The deadlines are supposed to be the outgrowth of a 1969 study by the Eagleton Institute of Rutgers University authorized by the Mississippi legislature to improve the legislative process after years of slow-moving unlimited sessions.

But the old guard which controlled the Legislature back then picked only the Eagleton recommendations which would give them vest pocket control of the process through the powerful committee system. Deadlines for committees to report bills to the floor were drawn to become a vast burial ground for a great bulk of legislation with only half the time for considerations proposed by Eagleton.

Basically, only the bills in which the committee chairman or the leadership is interested have made their way to the calendar. And then, the membership has only one week to tackle all the bills on the floor. For instance, the House had 200 bills and only four days to pass them.

You might say the legislative old guard was hoisted on its petard when soft-spoken, mild-mannered black Rep. Hillman Frazier of Jackson insisted at the beginning of last week on the full reading of each bill under Section 59 of the state Constitution.

When Frazier, hurt by what he perceived as a cavalier disregard for his bill to honor Martin Luther King with a state holiday, was joined by the other 17 black members in the bill-reading tactic, it became the most effective filibuster in modern legislative history.

The Eagleton study has foreseen the problems which could develop in a limited session if one member requested the reading of each bill. It urged that the provisions in Section 59 be repealed as an obsolete holdover from the days before fast copying.

That, of course, would have required the Legislature to approve a constitutional amendment and submit it to the people. But the power group who controlled the Legislature never saw the necessity, always thinking it may serve their own purpose to keep the bill-reading provision.

Significantly, Section 59 also says that one member can insist on the full reading of each bill after it is passed by both Houses, returned to be signed by the presiding officer in open session. If invoked, that could bring another massive delay in the dying days of the session.

The upshot of events last week became a soul-searching experience in the Mississippi House. For the first time since blacks have acquired a significant number of seats in the Mississippi lower chamber, deep, pent-up emotions based on racial differences came to the surface.

For blacks, it was the culmination of frustration, not just the frustrations they have experienced as a minority in a white-dominated political system. It was the culmination of 100 years of having been left out of the lawmaking, as well as the policy-making process.

The advantage blacks have over whites is patience. As the whole lawmaking machinery of the Legislature came to a screeching halt by their action, blacks could look at it from the perspective of "So what? We've waited 100 years to become part of it and what's one more year?"

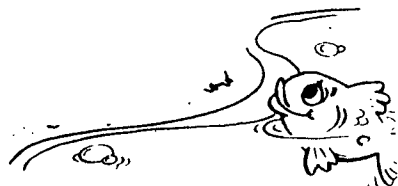

White lawmakers obviously do not comprehend the depth of feeling that exists among blacks about Martin Luther King. When they treated lightly (and even some with contempt) the proposal of the blacks to honor Dr. King with a state holiday, they made a grievous miscalculation.

The tragedy of it was the white leadership in the House know no other way to deal with the crisis of emotions than to retreat into a defensive posture, then bitterness, and finally reprisal.

From the perception of the white leaders, the blacks were acting irresponsibly, childishly, foolishly. They (the blacks) would be the eventual losers, said the older heads among the whites. But, and it is important, not all white members shared that feeling. Some came in tears to the blacks, apologized and spoke of their love for them.

When Rep. H. L. "Sonny" Merideth of Greenville, the epitome of the white leadership, rose to speak at the end of the legislatively disastrous week, his words were certainly not those of a conciliator.

In fact, all his remarks did was to enflame the black emotions. His rational seemed to be "Why can't you blacks be responsible like us whites?"

School board sandbagging Concerned Parents

February 18, 1986
Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

As a concerned parent of a child currently attending public school and two younger children who will be in the system soon, I am totally frustrated.

Not with the teachers and school per se, but with certain members of the school board; and, in particular, the superintendent.

I have been an active member of The Bay-Waveland Parents for Quality Education and have worked on their Kindergarten Committee, established as a means for parents to make positive contributions to school board efforts on the implementation of kindergarten.

We approached the school board on Jan. 13 asking the status of their application to the State Board of Education on the implementation of kindergarten which must be submitted by Feb. 28.

We were told it would be completed in approximately two weeks. As of Feb. 17, it was not completed.

On Feb. 17, The Bay-Waveland Parents for Quality Education approached the school board with specific recommendations.

We were informed of a special meeting called for Monday, Feb. 24, at 7 p.m. to review and discuss the application for implementation of kindergarten.

Mr. McCulloch, the superintendent, so graciously stated that at that meeting they would be interested in hearing the input and recommendations of concerned parents.

Considering the application must be in Jackson four days later to receive state funding, it takes little imagination to comprehend what will be done with the input from concerned parents in the community.

Sincerely,
Barbara A. Boston

Complaints against school bus drivers go unheeded

Feb. 17, 1986
Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor,

We have filed a formal complaint with the Hancock County School District concerning a Hancock County school bus driver.

On Thursday, Feb. 13, a school bus killed our 12-year-old stock dog in spite of the children on the bus standing up and yelling for her to watch it.

The dog was not in the road when the bus killed her - she was walking toward my little girl.

This could have easily been my little 2-year-old boy.

When the children misbehave on the bus they are suspended from the bus.

However, when a complaint is filed on a bus driver because of damages due to carelessness the driver continues to drive the bus.

I was informed that complaints have to be made in writing.

Before any children are seriously hurt it is time for concerned parents to write complaints on the drivers.

If possible bring them to the school board meeting on the first Monday of March.

If you can not make the meeting send the letters to me c/o General Delivery, Kiln, MS.

I will bring them to the meeting. There are a few good bus drivers, however, we need the others replaced before they hurt one of the children.

Firefighter decries lack of community spirit among certain 'volunteers'

February 13, 1986
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

As a professional firefighter and as a concerned citizen of Hancock County, I would like to point out a situation which prevailed elsewhere in the United States in the hope it may never happen here.

A subscription fire department in an unincorporated town let a community resident's $150,000 house burn to the ground because he hadn't contributed to the department's annual fire association membership fee.

The homeowner graphically recounted how members of the fire department had arrived in time to control the fire, yet stood by and watched the house burn, just as they had done to other resident's property seven times in the last 10 years.

The result was that his home and all the family's possessions, including the dog, were lost to the all-consuming flames.

An officer of the National Volunteer Fire Council explained the "volunteers" point of view. He pointed out that this sort of situation rarely occurs and only does so in certain areas where there are unique funding problems.

He personally deplored the practice of letting residences burn. The actions of this department left a negative image of the volunteer fire service in particular and the entire fire service in general.

There is no place in modern fire suppression for a department that includes as part of its standard operating procedures refusal to fight fires within its district.

Furthermore, subscription fire departments should not continue to bring disgrace to the fire service by calling themselves volunteers.

To Americans, the word "volunteer" implies no charge for services - whether it is the service of firefighters to the department or the service of the department to the members of the community.

While subscription members might donate their time, refusal of fire suppression service to residents in obvious need does not in any way embody the ideals of today's fire departments.

If a fire company cannot raise adequate funds to operate, then as a matter of the public trust, it becomes beholden upon that community's leaders to provide an adequate funding alternative. The public's welfare demands no less.

Poet inspired by prospect of a clean beach

Dear Editor:

The upcoming "Clean Our Beach" Day has inspired this poem:
COME TO "CLEAN OUR BEACH" DAY
By the Bay-Waveland Beach Bum

On Saturday, February twenty-two,

We will be expecting you
At a big beach party for everyone
With refreshments, prizes and lots of fun.

And, while we're there, we'll clean the beach

Of all the hazardous things in reach.

All of the sponsors depend on you
For, after all, it's your beach, too.
The Waveland American Legion Hall

Is the place to register...one and all.
February 22nd...remember the date...

From 9 to 10. Now, don't be late.
It'll be a step in the right direction,
For a beautiful beach deserves perfection.

And, when it's replenished with silver sand,

You'll say: "I lent a helping hand!"

Cancer rehab volunteer training program slated

The American Cancer Society, Mississippi Division, will conduct a Rehabilitation Volunteer Visitor Training Program at Biloxi Regional Outreach on Feb. 21.

Invited to participate in the training session are mastectomy, ostomy, laryngectomy, and other cancer patients and family members who are interested in working in volunteer visitation programs, as well as interested laymen and medical and allied health professionals.

Cancer patients who are involved in volunteer visitation programs must have successfully adjusted to their disease, its treatment and consequences and be approved by their physicians before being certified as volunteer visitors.

According to Mrs. Tillie Mallett, volunteer coordinator of the program, training will include background information on the American Cancer Society and its rehabilitation programs; qualifications, expectations and responsibilities of volunteer visitors; how to be effective as a volunteer visitor; visiting do's and don'ts; listening skills; and specialized training in individual rehabilitation programs: reach to recovery, ostomy, laryngectomy groups and can surmount (patient visitation).

The Reach to Recovery program of the American Cancer Society is an ongoing program.

Reach to Recovery volunteers — mastectomees, who have been specially screened and trained — visit new breast cancer patients in the hospital, with the approval of the attending physician, to assist in emotional, physical and psychological rehabilitation.

Help with prostheses, exercises, and personal reassurance on a woman-to-woman basis is supplied in a carefully matched system that includes hospital visits, counseling and follow-up visits.

At the request of the physician, pre-treatment visits may be arranged. Volunteers who have had reconstruction surgery are available to provide non-medical information to patients considering this treatment option.

The American Cancer Society works closely with the United Ostomy Association to assist new ostomates in adjusting to daily living.

On the request of the physician, carefully trained volunteers who have successfully adjusted as ostomates visit the new patient to help on a one-to-one basis, both pre-operatively and post-operatively.

Laryngectomy visitors provide needed support to patients who have lost their voices due to cancer through pre and post-operative visits, with the approval of the attending physician.

"Can Surmount" brings together cancer patients and their families and provides them with an opportunity to discuss mutual problems in a constructive manner; to learn more about cancer and how to cope with it. Volunteers, who have been carefully screened and trained, provide continuing support and understanding to cancer patients and their families through hospital and home visits. Hospital visits are made only with the approval of the attending physician.

The Harrison County Unit of the American Cancer Society is hosting this training session in an effort to expand its service and rehabilitation activities to the cancer patient.

Persons interested in attending the program should contact the American Cancer Society Office at 896-7024 or 374-2216.

CORPORATE DONATIONS—Leo Seal, right, president of Hancock Bank, presents a check for $30,000 from the bank to Rev. Charles Johnson, left, chairman of the Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees. The money will go to the current campaign to raise $200,000 for extra equipment and furnishings for the new Medical Center. Also participating in the presentation is Leo Kowal, center, general manager of Borg-Warner Chemicals which also donated $30,000 to the hospital's campaign in July.

Scifi group offers membership bargain

Reduced memberships for CoastCon '86 are being offered this winter for the annual three-day science fiction, fantasy and gaming event.

This is the last price reduction which will be offered before the convention, to be held April 4-6 at the Coast Coliseum and Convention Center on the beach in Biloxi.

Anyone who registers between now and Feb. 28 will be offered a membership rate of $15, compared to the $20 rate which will be charged at the door. The reduced rate ends several weeks before the convention, and no registrations will be accepted through the mails between Feb. 28 and April 4, to allow for registration paperwork to be completed.

The weekend will include games, films, panel discussions and social activities. This year's convention will attract some of the best known authors, artists and game designers in science fiction and fantasy, according to CoastCon Governing Committee President Diane Johnson of Long Beach.

Guest of Honor will be editor and author Ben Bova, formerly editor of OMNI Magazine, and editor of Amazing Magazine. Other guests will include Terry Brooks, author of the "Sword of Shannara" series of fantasy novels; Larry Brom, designer of the gaming system "Sword and the Flame," which takes place in the days of the Raj (British Colonial rule); Howard Chaykin, creator of the "American Flagg" comic book; Leslie Zahler, editor and author of comic books and graphic novels; and Daryl Murdock, fantasy artist.

Continuous movies, both miniature and role-playing gaming, panel discussions, and displays and demonstrations by NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories are all on tap for the convention.

Also planned is a special guest appearance by Halley's Comet, which should offer its best and last view for Terrans before leaving our part of the galaxy for another 76 years. Members of the Jackson County Astronomical Society and staffers with the STARS Planetarium will conduct "tours" of the comet and other wonders of the early morning sky.

Several demonstrations by units of the armed forces, including historical presentations, a Civil War bivouac and the possible firing of several cannons, are planned for the coliseum grounds.

Social activities will include a banquet, costume contest and Star Trek birthday party, a meet the guests party, and demonstrations by artisans working in ancient and modern crafts.

For more information, write CoastCon '86, P. O. Box 1423, Biloxi, MS 39533. To register, send $15 in check or money order, with your name, complete address and phone number, to the above address.

CHAMPION DOGS

"Farmweek" will visit champion stock dog (border collie) handler David Rogers on a program to air at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 24, on Mississippi ETV.

Rogers, who lives in Perkinston in Stone County, will discuss how his hobby of showing the stock dogs in competition has increased his use of the dogs as an integral part of his farm work.

Rogers' border collies placed first, second, and third place in the Alabama Stock Dog Association's American Grand Finals competition in Dothan, Alabama, this fall.

BUSINESSMAN HONORED—Bay St. Louis Councilman James Thrifflay presents a certificate to Harold Carver, proprietor of Jerome's Department Store on Main Street. The council honored Carver for his continued support of the city's downtown business district through recent renovations and improvements at the store. Jerome's has operated in downtown Bay St. Louis for 32 years. (Staff photo by Dena Blumette)

County Agent's Notes

NEW PROGRAM

A key feature of the 1985 farm bill passed by Congress in late 1985 may be of interest to Hancock County farmers.

The conservation reserve part of the bill is an attempt to remove highly erodible cropland from production and reduce surplus crop production. Nationwide, five million acres of erodible land will be removed from production in 1986, with 40 million acres removed by 1989.

In some instances, the conservation reserve program will take farmland out of production that really shouldn't be in row crop production.

A new twist in the program is that farmers will make bids to the federal government to take erodible cropland out of production.

If you are interested in taking some of your erodible cropland out of production, you submit a bid for a specified sum per acre. The land's production potential, as well as many other factors, will play in your decision on how low and how high you are willing to bid. The bid is on a per acre per year basis for the 10-year period.

The government is not obligated to accept your bid, and whether your bid is actually accepted will depend on bids from other farmers in your county as well as other factors. To reduce the possible impact agribusiness, no more than 25 percent of the total cropland in Hancock County or any other county can be part of the conservation reserve.

Keep in mind that the conservation reserve applies only to eligible erodible cropland. To be eligible, the land must be eroding at twice the Soil Conservation Service tolerance

(T) level, which on most soils is either three or five tons of topsoil per acre per year.

The land must have been in row crops for two years during the period of 1981 to 1985.

To take part, you have to agree to keep the land you have bid on out of production for 10 years. You will receive the amount of your bid annually, if it is accepted.

You have the option to either plant the land in trees or pastures, provided the pastures are not grazed or cut for hay at any time during the 10 year life of the program.

There will be financial help available on a cost-share basis from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service for converting land in the conservation reserve to trees or pastures. There are several other agencies involved in administering the conservation reserve program, including the Soil Conservation Service and the Mississippi Forest Service.

There will be information available soon about a sign-up period and other details. Once the sign-up period is announced, you will have 10 days to sign up. All this should take place by early March.

When the sign-up period is announced, bids will be accepted at the ASCS office. Bring information on the exact fields you want to bid on, whether you intend to plant trees or pasture, the acreage of each field, crops grown in the fields from 1981 to 1985, any conservation practices used on the fields and your bid. ASCS can not accept your bid until the announced sign-up period.

Representatives from SCS and the Forest Service will be there to evaluate your eligibility, answer your questions and possibly do on-site evaluations.

I know you will want to give careful consideration to the conservation reserve, and particularly the bid price you may want to enter.

Cost-of-living boost to be seen on VA checks

A 3.1 percent cost-of-living increase in Veterans Administration compensation benefits for service-connected disabilities will be reflected in February checks issued March 1 and will include retroactive amounts due for the months of December and January, according to Samuel J. Maraman, Jackson VA Regional Office director.

The rate boost, effective Dec. 1, 1985, was signed into law by President Reagan on Jan. 13, 1986.

More than 22,000 Mississippi veterans currently receive compensation totaling more than $99 million a year. The rate adjustment means an increase from $1,295 to $1,335 per month for a veteran with a disability rated at 100 percent.

Veterans with a 50 percent disability will receive $388 a month, up from $376, and those with a 10 percent rating will get $68 a month, up from $66.

The legislation also increases to $360 the annual allowance payable in August to certain veterans whose artificial limbs or wheelchairs cause wear on their clothing.

In addition, the law provides a 3.1 percent increase in dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) rates for surviving spouses and children of veterans who died in service or of service-connected causes.

For further assistance and information veterans and widows may contact the Jackson VA Regional Office between the hours of 7:30 and 4:30, Monday through Friday.

The statewide toll-free number is 1-800-682-5270. If you live in the Meridian area, call 693-6166; in the Gulfport/Biloxi area, call 432-5996. The number in the Jackson area is 965-4873.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER BY THEMSELVES...

THE WHOLE FAMILY SUFFERS.

It's not an unusual story. Take a successful individual who has everything going for him. Great family, promising career and life's daily problems he tries to solve with alcohol — and sometimes drugs. Eventually, his problems will grow to include chemical dependency. Can his family handle that?

What about the successful business woman? She's attractive, personable — and an alcoholic. Her favorite hobby — drinking martinis at lunch and after work. How long can she stay on top? Her home life as a wife and mother has already turned into a nightmare for her family.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER ALONE.

At GULF OAKS HOSPITAL & CLINIC, chemical dependence is viewed as a family illness and recovery for the entire family is considered essential. If a family member or close friend is destroying their life by alcohol or drug indulgence, they need help. Professional medical help. At GULF OAKS, family involvement is an integral part of our program. Team members work with the family to help them understand the patient's problem as an illness.

DON'T SUFFER ALONE. HELP IS AVAILABLE — AND SO NEAR.

Legislative Update

Editor's Note: This article is written and the reports are tabulated with a cutoff of Thursday evening. The House Clerk's office reported as of Monday morning both HB71 (the school bond issue voting requirement) and HB388 (the Grand Gulf tax bill) have been held on motions to reconsider. This means that the votes tabulated here are not necessarily final. If they are reconsidered and the outcome changes, they will be included again next week.

Many times bills are held on motions to reconsider and nothing is done to change the previous outcome, but both of these bills are somewhat volatile with the Grand Gulf issue having changed once already.

By Rosa Lee H. Jones

Both the House and Senate overrode Gov. Bill Allain's veto of a $10 million cut in the 1987 Highway Department Budget during the sixth week of the session.

Allain wants the Highway Department to share in the steep cuts facing other agencies because of state budget shortfalls, and says he will continue his fight.

A recently completed state Audit Department report says in June there will be $23 million in unobligated highway fund, but highway commissioners say they will spend the money before then.

County supervisors could no longer reduce the budgets of county school systems under a bill passed Feb. 11 by the Senate. Supporters say it places school districts on an equal footing, since cities do not approve the budgets of municipal school districts. A school district still may not increase its budget more than 10 percent over the previous year.

Grassroots pressure from highly organized Baptist groups was credited by Senators with killing a proposal to allow residents to vote on a state lottery.

Sen. Nevin Sledge, Cleveland, a lottery supporter, tabled the constitutional amendment because it wouldn't pass. "Why have a bloody battle when we didn't have the votes?" Sledge said. "Pressure back home from the Baptist church has killed it."

Homeowners stung by higher property tax bills after statewide reappraisal would get some relief under a bill approved by the House last week. The measure, which must be approved 3-1 by the voters via a pending constitutional amendment, would shift some of the tax burden back to the utilities.

Homesteads would be assessed at 10 percent of value, residential property at 15 percent, agriculture and forest lands at 12 percent, other property at 15 percent, business inventories and equipment at 15 percent and motor vehicles at 30 percent. The present level is 30 percent for utilities and vehicles and 15 percent for other types of property.

A similar bill was approved by the House last year but died in a House-Senate conference committee.

A proposed 1,500-bed, $41 million prison in south Mississippi was returned to committee by the Senate in favor of a cheaper, inmate-built facility, probably at the State Penitentiary at Parchman. Local voters can also say no to prison construction in their county under the Senate bill.

A bill that would have reduced the margin needed to pass a school bond issue from 60 percent to 55 percent was tabled for the lack of five votes in the House. This bill would also have allowed Hinds County to pass school bond issues with a simple majority.

The House and Senate approved different measures to distribute some of the property tax from Grand Gulf nuclear station. The House passed a bill early in the week that would raise $32 million in tax but after intense lobbying from utility officials, changed its mind and lowered the figure to $16.

The Senate version also set the minimum at $16 million. The two bills allow Claiborne County to keep different percentages of the tax money.

VOTING RECORDS HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES (through Feb. 14)

HB389
This bill would revise property tax assessment ratios. This would relieve property tax on home owners. Yea - 90, Nay - 30, Absent - 1, Phillips - Yea.

This resolution would allow the State Treasurer to succeed himself. Yea - 110, Nay - 11, Absent - 1, Phillips - Yea.

HB916
This bill would provide that tavern owners not be held liable for customer injuries due to intoxication. Yea - 62, Nay - 55, Present - 3, Absent - 2, Phillips - Yea.

HB816
This bill exempts first-time property taxes to support public kindergartens from a law limiting local tax growth to 10 percent a year. Yea - 108, Nay - 10, Absent - 4, Phillips - Yea.

HB954
This bill enlarges a 1985 law authorizing $12 million in bonds to build facilities at Pascagoula for the Navy to include waterfront improvements. Yea - 118, Nay - 3, Absent 1, (Nay - Junkin, Robertson, Wadkins; Absent - Shumake).

SB2654
This bill overrides the Governor's veto of a bill that removes $10 million from the Highway Department's fiscal 1987 budget. Yea - 43, Nay - 9, Smith - Yea, Taylor - Yea.

ment's fiscal 1987 budget. Yea - 98, Nay - 24, Phillips - Nay.

HB335
This bill increases the minimum sentence without parole in a capital offense from 10 years to 25 years. Yea - 103, Nay - 9, Present - 1, Absent - 9, Phillips - Yea.

HB388
This bill deals with the amount of property taxes that will be assessed the Grand Gulf Nuclear Power Plant and how it will be divided.

An amendment was offered that would raise the assessment from 2 percent to 4 percent and the minimum payment from $16 million to $32 million. This amendment passed Wednesday. Yea - 74, Nay - 47, Absent 1, Phillips - Nay.

The bill itself gives Claiborne County 15 percent of the taxes, the State of Mississippi, 10 percent, and another 44 counties divide the remaining 75 percent based on power consumption. Final passage was: Yea, 102, Nay 20, Phillips - Yea.

This amendment on reconsideration Thursday lowered the Grand Gulf Nuclear Power Plant assessment from $32 million to $16 million. Yea - 59, Nay - 56, Absent - 7, Phillips - Yea.

Final passage on the Grand Gulf bill on Thursday: Yea - 90, Nay - 27, Absent - 5, Phillips - Yea.

HB 295
This bill increases the printers fees for printers and publishers. Yea - 107, Nay - 12, Absent - 3, Phillips - Yea.

HB41
This bill revises the 1983 anti-obscenity law, which federal courts have not let go into operation, in an effort to remove the court objections. Yea - 91, Nay - 28, Absent - 3, Phillips - Yea.

HB387
This bill would revise the allocation of in lieu taxes from the TVA upon retirement of the Tenn-Tom bridge bonds. Yea - 117, Nay - 3, Absent - 2, Nays: Aldridge, Halbrook, Holmes; Absent: Anderson (89th), Henderson.

HB71
This bill would lower the requirement for local school bond issues from 60 percent to a 55 percent vote for passage. This bill allowed that Hinds County needed only 50 percent plus 1. This bill was never voted on. Debate was killed on the bill on Wednesday by a vote of 52 yeas, 61 nays, absent 9, Phillips - Yea.

The bill was tabled on Thursday. Yea - 62, Nay - 57, Absent - 3, Phillips - Yea.

VOTING RECORDS FOR THE SENATE (through Feb. 14)

SCR538
This constitutional amendment loosens the conflict-of-interest law for public officials. It would allow, for example, a public school teacher to serve as a legislator. It must receive a 2/3 vote in the House. Yea - 39, Nay - 9, Absent and Not Voting - 4, Smith (47) - Yea, Taylor - Nay.

SB2114
This bill authorizes public school building authorities to finance school construction. It would give local school districts the authority to lease buildings for kindergartens next year. It must still pass the House. Yea - 36, Nay - 5, Absent/Not Voting - 8, Smith - Yea, Taylor - Yea.

SB2654
This vote was on override of the Governor's Veto. The bill removes $10 million from the Highway Department's fiscal 1987 budget. Yea - 43, Nay - 9, Smith - Yea, Taylor - Yea.

SB2117
This bill was the Mississippi Uniform School Law of 1986. This bill creates one type of school district and allows school boards to set their own budgets without the approval of county supervisors.

There was an attempt to pass an amendment that would allow supervisors to approve school budgets. The vote on the amendment was Yea - 17, Nay - 31, Absent - 4, Smith - Nay, Taylor - Nay.

Final passage vote on the bill was: Yea - 40, Nay - 11, Absent or Not Voting - 1, Smith - Yea, Taylor - Yea.

SB2611
This bill removes the exemption from registration for church-related child care facilities. It requires them to be registered and mandates annual inspections by the State Board of Health. Yea - 41, Nay - 8, Absent and Not Voting - 3, Smith - Nay, Taylor - Yea.

SB2644
This bill clarifies the emergency purchase of culverts and allows state agencies and local governments to purchase culverts on a six-month contract instead of advertising for bids each time a purchase is made. Passed 52-0.

SB2362
This bill would increase the interest rate for investment of excess state funds and passed 52-0.

During debate on the bill an amendment was offered that would allow savings and loan institutions to accept public deposits in the same manner as banks. This amendment was defeated. Yea - 15, Nay - 34, Absent - 3, Smith - Yea, Taylor - Yea.

SB2786
This bill would construct new correctional facility using bail bond fees. It passed 52-0.

During debate on this bill an amendment was offered that would allow the use of inmates to build prisons and to give counties the right to reject prisons in their areas. It passed. Yea - 28, Nay - 24, Smith - Nay, Taylor - Yea.

SB2180
This bill reenacts the Mississippi Ethics Commission. Yea - 41, Nay - 7, Absent or Not Voting - 4, Smith - Yea, Taylor - Yea.

Economic Perspective

Profits as a cost for the small business firm

By Dr. Jack C. Wimberly

There are certain costs that obviously must be covered if a firm is to continue its operations.

Examples that immediately come to mind include such things as wages to employees, raw materials, utility bills and the like. If revenue is insufficient to cover such costs, the firm must close in order to stop the flow of red ink.

It is only reasonable then to define a firm's costs as including all payments that are necessary in order to keep it in operation. Does this mean that profit, at least at some minimum level, is necessary and therefore warrants being called a cost of operation?

The unavoidable answer is yes. If some profit is not forthcoming, the owner would be better off to fold the business and hire himself out, rent out his physical facilities, and place any money invested in an interest-bearing account.

The item that passes for profit often amounts to no more than a reasonable wage for the owner, plus a rate of return on physical and monetary assets. These returns can be realized without the risks and bother of ownership.

At least an equivalent "profit" must accompany ownership if the firm is to continue serving the public.

Dr. Wimberly is an economics professor and assistant dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Southern Mississippi.

CAIRE

As I sit here in the den, I'm getting hungrier by the minute, with the aroma of the old fashioned chicken soup a-simmering on the stove, and Peanuts-The Cat stalking the adjacent kitchen, ready and eager to stake his claim to a juicy chicken leg as soon as the pot comes off the stove!

I'll enjoy the soup for a couple of days, then will store some in the freezer, to have on hand in case the monster flu bug which 'laid me low' last week plans a return engagement.

Bertha Giani brought me a mammoth pot of chicken soup - often called the 'Old-fashioned Jewish mama's penicillin' - last week, and after several tasty 'doses' of this potent penicillin, I was well on the road to recovery.

Other friends had hurried 'round, with various delicacies, so bountiful that, if I hadn't been so miserable and had been able to hold up my head and stand on my feet long enough, I could have tossed quite a party with all the 'goodies.'

Bertha had even added a couple of cups of cooked rice to the soup, as a stomach-soother. Since Bertha cooks as I do, by handfolds and pinches and taste and so on, it's difficult to pin her down to exact recipes, but, in a general way here's:

OLD FASHIONED
JEWISH MAMA'S
PENICILLIN

1 chicken or hen, from 3 to 4 pounds or less, quartered
3 qts. water
1 large onion
1 bay leaf
3 carrots, peeled
4 ribs celery
Pepper, salt to taste

Trim any excess fat from chicken or hen, and cut into quarters, or smaller pieces if desired. Place in lightly salted water in a heavy pot, cover and bring to a boil over high heat.

Uncover, and turn the fire low. Add the bay-leaf and onion, then the carrots, peeled and sliced or chunked, and the celery, also sliced or chunked. Simmer until the chicken is tender (from 2 to 2½ hours or more usually). Season to your taste, adding a bit more water if needed, and also skim as necessary.

Strain the soup till clear, if you wish, or serve it with the vegetables and chicken. Let the soup cool, at any rate, and refrigerate for a few hours, until the fat congeals atop the surface. Skim the fat. Reheat as needed. If in a hurry, you can dip an ice cube in the soup, and remove the fat as it hardens around the cube.

This soup cured me almost as fast as the medicine did! You may add rice to the soup as Bertha did. Some cooks add corn kernels or green beans, also, and others add tomatoes - but the true old fashioned 'penicillin' contains none of these!

UNO offering non-credit courses on entrepreneurship

A number of non-credit courses in entrepreneurship are being offered this spring by the University of New Orleans Metropolitan College.

They include:
— "Starting Your Own Business: How to Plan for Success," six sessions, Feb. 24-March 12.

The course, which will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., will be taught by Dr. Ken Lacho, UNO professor of management and marketing, and Midge Pilney, a commercial lending officer with a local bank.

— "Franchising: Separating Fact from Fiction," four Saturdays, Feb. 22-March 15, 9 a.m.-noon.

Raymond Munna, local attorney, will discuss such topics as how to evaluate various franchise opportunities, assess the legal and financial risks involved, and understand the "fine print" of a franchise agreement.

— "The 'Nuts and Bolts' of Managing Your Own Small Business," eight sessions, Mondays/Wednesdays, April 7-30, 7:30-9:30 p.m. Dr. Lacho will discuss such topics as business strategy, financial management and accounting, personnel management, and developing a marketing plan.

— "Practical Advertising Methods for Small Business Owners," six sessions, Tuesdays/Thursdays, April 22-May 8, 7:30-9:30 p.m. Dr. Lacho will cover advertising methods and techniques to successfully market and promote a small business. Participants will develop their own advertising plans for review by advertising practitioners.

For information on the courses, which will be held on UNO's main campus, call UNO Metropolitan College, 286-7100.

Cannon participates in 1986 Governor's Tourism Conference

Georgia Cannon of Mississippi Railway and Transportation Museum, Inc. attended the 1986 Governor's Conference on Tourism Jan. 19-21 in Jackson at the Ramada Renaissance Hotel.

The conference was sponsored by the Division of Tourism, Mississippi Department of Economic Development.

Selling Mississippi's tourist assets was the focal point of the conference which featured in-depth sessions on marketing for more than 150 delegates.

During a Monday luncheon, Governor Bill Allain emphasized the importance of tourism as an economic development tool, and keynote speaker Karen Peterson, Davidson-Peterson Associates, Inc., New York, discussed "Tourism Marketing Challenges in the 80s and 90s."

Also on Monday, Eugene Dilbeck, director of the Oklahoma Tourism and Recreation Department, introduced the Travel Industry Association's "Discover America" marketing program designed to encourage Americans to travel within the U.S.

Other speaker topics included planning and promoting community events; an examination of travel markets; working with travel writers; the value of private sector tourism organizations; and sales and service techniques.

Cannon said the conference seminars provided practical information on how to attract tourist dollars to Hancock County and commented that tourism development is an excellent way to enhance the local economy.

St. Stanislaus to conduct financial aid workshop for college assistance

St. Stanislaus High School will have its 'Open Classroom' session for the second quarter marking period on Sunday, Feb. 23 from 2 to 4 p.m.

On the same day, Vernetta Fairley, a college financial aid officer with thirteen years experience, will conduct a workshop in the St. Stanislaus audio-visual room at 1:30 p.m.

The program will be repeated for interested parents and students at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Fairley will also be available after each presentation to counsel and to assist any parents who are seeking help in securing funds for the college education of their children.

In addition to parents having the opportunity to visit with the teachers of their children during the 'Open Classroom' session, a seminar will be conducted at 4 p.m. to discuss standardized test results.

The parents of seventh and eighth grade students will review the meanings of the SRA Multilevel Achievement Series with Brother Carl Evans, SC in the audio-visual room; while the parents of the freshmen and sophomores will meet with James Thriffley in Room 227 at 4 p.m. to examine the NEDT results.

Both the financial aid workshop and the seminar to discuss standardized test results are open to all interested parents.

Biloxi Regional medical staff posts filled

Robert J. Schmidt, MD, and Eldon D. McClain, MD, have been elected to hold the top two positions for 1986 for the Biloxi Regional Medical Center Medical and Dental Staff.

Schmidt will serve as president of the combined medical-dental staff, and McClain has been elected to fill the post of chief-of-staff. Officers for BRMC's medical-dental staff were elected at the final December 1985 meeting and will serve throughout the coming year.

Other staff officers elected to serve for 1986 include Noel Johnson, MD, vice president; and Douglas Cosentino, MD, secretary-treasurer.

Section chairmen for 1986 are Carol Ann Smith, MD, chief of emergency medicine; Paul Pavlov, MD, chief of family practice; Regina Mills, MD, chief of medicine; Frank Gruich, MD, chief of obstetrics-gynecology; Richard Schmidt, MD, chief of pediatrics; and Harold Hawkins, MD, chief of surgery.

Schmidt will be serving his second term as president, after previously serving as vice president and chief of Ob-Gyn.

He is also medical director of Biloxi Regional Outreach, the hospital's adult drug and alcohol and drug recovery center.

He received his medical degree from Tulane University, his bachelor's degree from Notre Dame University, and is a graduate of Notre Dame High School.

Following his residency at Charity Hospital in New Orleans, he served two years in the U.S. Navy, obtaining the rank of lieutenant Commander.

Schmidt returned to live in Biloxi in 1968 and joined his father and two brothers at the Schmidt Clinic to begin his Ob-Gyn practice. He and his wife Gladys have a son and a daughter. He is a past commander of the Biloxi Yacht Club and is a member of the Mithras Carnival Organization.

McClain is medical director of the laboratory and serves as pathologist at Biloxi Regional. He received his medical degree from Northwestern University School of Medicine and his bachelor's degree from Northwestern University. He is a graduate of Ashton High School in Ashton, Ill., and was class valedictorian. He completed his internship and residency in pathology at Presbyterian St. Lukes Hospital in Chicago.

He served as instructor of pathology at the University of Illinois College of Medicine, then instructor of pathology at Rush Medical College, Chicago, then became chief resident in pathology at Presbyterian St. Lukes Hospital. Dr. McClain then served as assistant to chief in Anatomic Pathology at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C.

After a post as clinical assistant professor in pathology at the Georgetown University School of Medicine and then as associate pathologist, anatomic and clinical pathology, Craven County Hospital, New Bern, N.C., he came to Biloxi Regional.

McClain is board certified in anatomic and clinical pathology and is a diplomate of the National Board of Medical Examiners. He served as secretary-treasurer of the BRMC medical-dental staff for 1985.

He and his wife Dixie reside in Ocean Springs with their two sons.

OLG Mission to open Sunday

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis is sponsoring a Parish Mission to be held Sunday through Thursday, Feb. 27.

Everyone is invited to attend, said Monsignor James P. McGough, pastor.

Conducting the mission services will be Father Jack Conley, CP, a Passionist Missioner from Chicago, Ill.

The mission is conducted with two daily services. The heart of the mission is an evening service each night which includes a sermon preached on a Scriptural theme.

Evening services will begin on Sunday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m. and will be held each evening at that time until the close of the Mission on Feb. 27.

Daily Mass during the Mission will be celebrated at 10 a.m. and will include an extended homily by the missioner.

Monsignor McGough states, "Mission is a family affair. Please bring your children, particularly your teenagers to the Mission services each evening. The services last only one hour, so I am sure that we can all afford this much time during the Lenten Season to devote to our spiritual welfare."

The missioner will hear confessions after each service and at 4 p.m. in the afternoon each day of the Mission beginning Monday.

He will also be available for spiritual counseling for those who want to share a problem or insight.

Monsignor McGough concludes, "The Parish Mission will have all of your spiritual needs as its goal. It will attempt to face our current problems and find solutions for them. The Passionist Missioner will encourage you to meet Christ once again and to become more aware of the great opportunities in your everyday Christian life. Don't miss this great spiritual encounter. It can change your life for the better."

FREE ENTERPRISE—Competitors in Free Enterprise Championships include, seated from left, Mrs. Peggy Webb, teacher-sponsor; Chuck Benvenuti, CPA of Bay St. Louis; and Kelly Ramsey, Bay High senior;

Bay High places second in Free Enterprise

What is the world's basic economic problem?

It is the problem of scarcity.

That answer gave Seminary High School the South Mississippi Championship crown in the American Enterprise Center's first annual Free Enterprise Games.

From the South Mississippi Games, held in Hattiesburg in mid February, the five-member Seminary High School team will travel to Jackson for the state championship round which will be held as a part of the Mississippi Economic Council's Annual Membership Meeting on April 17.

Seminary will face the winner of the North Mississippi competition, scheduled for February 24 at Mississippi State University.

Seminary won the South Mississippi title in a sudden death playoff with Bay Senior High School of Bay St. Louis after the two teams had fought to a deadlock after three rounds of regular competition and a championship round.

The two schools were a part of the almost 30 South Mississippi high schools taking part in the first Free Enterprise Games to be offered by the American Enterprise Center, the enterprise education arm of the Council.

Bay Senior took first place by a three-point margin over Seminary in the three rounds of regular competition; then lost out in the sudden death playoff.

Taylorville High School took third place in the South Mississippi competition, with Brandon High School finishing fourth and Collins High School claiming fifth place.

Each school team was made up of five high school juniors or seniors and a faculty sponsor. Teams earned bonus points for including a business advisor from the local community.

Larry Tyner, public affairs manager of Weyerhaeuser Company in Columbus and chairman of MEC's American Enterprise Committee, directed the games.

General competition covered three rounds involving knowledge of economic terms and management of resources, a playoff round indicating economic understanding, and "sudden death" competition based on free enterprise understanding.

Members of the top two teams received Free Enterprise Games sweatshirts, and the Seminary High School champions received the South Mississippi championship cup.

Students on the Bay Senior High team were Kelly Ramsey, Carol Ladner, Linda Carver, Cheryl Jones, and Tracy Carver. Team sponsors were Mrs. Peggy Webb, Bay Senior High teacher, and CPA Charles Benvenuti.

Haven says rate increases for Johnson Utilities to stop

BY DENA BISNETTE
Johnson Utilities, Inc., a Vicksburg-based firm which owns several water and sewerage systems in Hancock County and West Harrison County, will receive no more rate increases until problems within the systems are corrected.

State Public Service Commissioner Lynn Havens told residents of Clermont Harbor, Jourdan River Shores and Oak Harbor in Hancock County and Pass Christian Isles and Henderson Point in West Harrison County Wednesday that there will be no more increases.

The firm received an increase last year for Clermont Harbor Waterworks, despite complaints from Clermont Harbor Civic Association members and other residents regarding poor service from an aging water system in need of repairs.

Havens said that increase was granted to improve an old, poorly functioning system, but that "days of rewarding poor service with rate increases are over."

Residents of the five communities, all represented by civic associations except Oak Harbor, stated their

Once a complaint is reported, it can be several hours before a maintenance crew is sent from Ocean Springs, Stuart Brehm of the Jourdan River Shores Property Owners Association said.

Several of those who addressed Havens, like Brehm, stated that they are more than just residents of the affected areas but have some background in engineering.

Brehm, a former executive director of the New Orleans Sewage and Water Board, said he had taken water samples from a pipeline on the Jourdan River Shores system and a New Orleans laboratory found the water so contaminated that an accurate count of disease-bearing bacteria was impossible to obtain.

Johnson, in addition to water systems, owns the sewerage systems in Jourdan River Shores and Oak Harbor, where Rod Cluke lives.

Cluke, who said he also has an engineering background, said he had been having so many problems with the sewer system that he had finally replaced all of the pipe in his yard himself and had paid to have a contractor clear a block pipe leading into his property but located outside it.

Most of the systems, according to both Havens and residents who addressed the hearing, were old and were in poor shape when Johnson bought them.

"I can't understand a man who rushes in to buy problems," Havens said during a discussion of the Oak Harbor system, which was purchased in September.

Water and sewerage complaints were accompanied by allegations of charges for garbage collection, which Johnson does not supply in either county, threats of discontinuation of service to consumers who called with complaints and road cave-ins caused by deteriorated pipe.

Hancock County Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge brought up a complaint of uncompleted maintenance work, which some residents say has made their driveways impassible.

Courge, however, said his problem is a county road torn up by a Johnson maintenance crew.

He said Johnson had worked out a previous complaint about a damaged road in his beat about three years earlier.

This time, however, Courge plans to take the utility firm to court on behalf of the county if a permit for digging up the road is not produced by Feb. 28.

Glenn Kelly Johnson, the owner of Johnson Utilities, was not present at the hearing. Instead, he was represented by his administrative assistant, Monti Watkins, and his son Michael Johnson.

Watkins said the two were present only to take notes and gather information.

Because of the serious charges being made at the hearing, she said she planned to discuss the matter with Glenn Johnson and possibly with an attorney before commenting.

Havens said anyone with a complaint against Johnson should contact his assistant, Gaye Dickey in Jackson, who said a toll-free number, 1-800-356-4429, is available.

Havens said some of the allegations may be out of his jurisdiction, but added that the commission can revoke Johnson's state certification as a licensed utility operator.

He said the major problem with such an action would be providing service to Johnson consumers.

In one instance of a revoked certificate, consumers have been without service since Feb. 4.

A court order could be obtained to authorize the civic associations to operate a utility system, but the commission has no legal authority to force Johnson to turn over his systems. He could simply shut them all down, the commissioner explained.

November Journal of Mississippi History published

Articles about 19th and 20th century Mississippi await readers of the November issue of the 'Journal of Mississippi History,' published by the Mississippi Historical Society and the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

"Challenging the Status Quo: Rubel Lex Phillips and the Mississippi Republican Party (1963-1967)," by Billy Burton Hathorn, shows how one man's push in the gubernatorial race changed the status of Mississippi's two-party system significantly.

Another article on Mississippi in the 20th century is "The Mississippi Summer Project Remembered: The Stephen Mitchell Bingham Letter," edited by Char Miller.

Bingham's letter, sent to friends, prominent politicians, civil rights activists, and others, is a comprehensive view of the Movement and its problems from the perspective of an active participant in the Freedom Summer voter registration drive.

19th century essays include the edited "Diary of Henry Jetton Tudury: Mississippi's Most Decorated Doughboy of World War I," by Charles Sullivan, and "Steamboat Landings on the Yazoo and Tallahatchie Rivers (1875-1882)." Compiled from several engineers' maps of the era by Harry P. Owens, the latter contains names of landings, locations, owners, and other information.

Copies of the 'Journal of Mississippi History' are provided to members of the Mississippi Historical Society. To become a member of the Society, send a check for $8.50, payable to the Mississippi Historical Society, to MHS, Box 571, Jackson, MS 39205. Single copies are also available at $3.00.

Included in each issue of the 'Journal of Mississippi History' (issued quarterly) are book reviews of new publications dealing with the history of the state, a "Publications Relating to Mississippi" listing, and an "Historical News and Notices" section.

been related to the death of his son, Mark Bounds, who was the intersection's most recent fatality.

The fatality occurred on a foggy day when visibility was "almost zero," Bounds said. He said his son's vehicle apparently crossed over the median when he attempted to turn off Bay View onto US-90.

Joiner said the biggest problem to solve is going to be the westbound turning lane onto Bay View, which will probably also have to be extended.

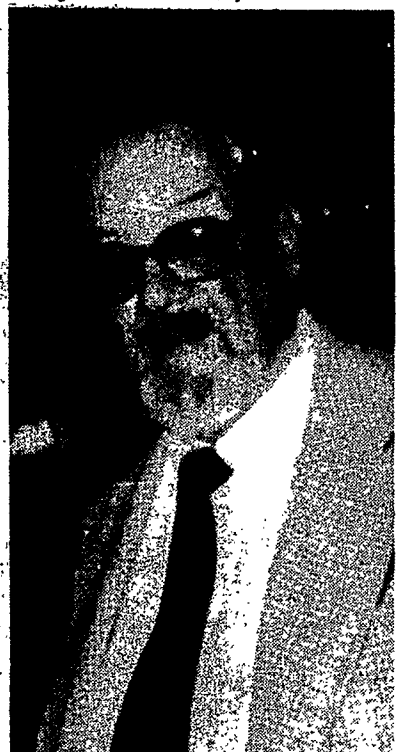

In addition, there may be some need for a turning bay and lighting for Ponce de Leon Road, which extends off US-90 between the overpass and the Bay St. Louis Bridge.

Joiner said he is not yet certain whether the traffic at either intersection could be slowed down with a light.

"We will have to take some careful, careful consideration about this to see that we don't eliminate one problem and create another hazard," Joiner said of the proposed light.

He said a traffic speed study will be taken by Robert Mosely, an area traffic engineer with his office, and added that work on both turning bays at Bay View can probably begin as soon as the study is completed.

He said it is possible that the speed limit could be changed at the intersection to slow traffic coming off the overpass and bridge and said installation of some type of marker or signal is likely.

STUART BREHM

complaints to Havens at a public hearing in Henderson Point.

Gerald Roux of the Henderson Point-Pass Christian Isles Civic Association called the problems with Johnson "one of the most serious situations to occur on the Gulf Coast since Hurricane Camille."

Charges mentioned in the complaints included unsafe and contaminated water, sand in pipelines, unannounced interruptions of service ranging from several hours to several days, improper or late notification concerning unsafe bacteria counts and low or varying water pressure.

Improper billing was also cited. The allegedly incorrect bills have included connection charges ranging from $300 routinely charged in Clermont Harbor to $1,700 for a residence in Jourdan River Shores.

In addition, most of the complaints from the more than 100 who attended the hearing included late charges on their bills. Some said they had refused to pay, contending that the late charges were in error, and had been assessed late charges on top of late charges.

Havens said the commission has issued an order stating that late charges have been suspended on disputed bills and that customers in Hancock and Jackson counties, where Johnson owns additional systems, should pay only monthly water consumption fees.

Harrison County was apparently left out of the order and will be covered in a separate order, Havens said.

Many residents also stated that they have spent hours trying to reach Johnson's Vicksburg office by telephone to report problems through a 1-800 number.

COMPLAINTS—Residents of Clermont Harbor, Jourdan River Shores, Henderson Point, Pass Christian Isles and Oak Harbor subdivision near Pearlington listen to a statement from Public Service Commissioner Lynn Havens. Havens heard numerous complaints Wednesday morning at a hearing concerning the water systems in these communities which are owned by Johnson Utilities Inc. of Vicksburg. Most residents presenting complaints alleged that Johnson's systems are old and in poor condition and provide poor service. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Seven Pearlington residents charged with vandalism

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Law enforcement officers have arrested seven Pearlington area residents in connection with vandalism of a marquee sign.

Michael Dean Schaffer, 18, of 321 Jacksonville Dr.; Delbert W. McArthur Jr., 18; and Ronald R. Ray, 19, both with general delivery addresses in Pearlington, were arrested Saturday afternoon by Hancock County Deputy Sheriff Ronald Cuevas.

Four minors were also taken into custody in connection with the incident and turned over to the Hancock County Youth Court, said Hancock Investigator Delbert Seay.

Estimated damages total $3,000 on the flashing marquee sign owned by Annette York Realty on US-90 in Pearlington, Seay added.

The three adults arrested Saturday have been released on a $3,000 bond from the Hancock County Jail.

CADA reports 1985 activities. elects officers

Committee on Alcoholism & Drug Abuse for Greater New Orleans (CADA) elected officers for the coming year and released a summary of its 1985 activities at a recent annual meeting.

Elected officers include Anthony R. Lentini, president; John M. Key, first vice president; Claude H. Bourgeois Jr., second vice president; James F. Terrell Jr., third vice president; and Elliott J. Keyes, secretary-treasurer.

In reviewing some of the agency's 1985 highlights, Lentini mentioned the computerized system CADA has initiated for its DWI programs; educational programs conducted in schools, hospitals, nursing schools, churches, clubs, organizations, and colleges; Employee Assistance Programs and related activities; and help afforded people in trouble through the agency's 524-HELP number and office consultation sessions.

The New Orleans Help Line, 524-HELP handled over 75,000 calls.

The New Orleans HELP line is backed by a comprehensive Referral Manual and System, capable of guiding callers to help for any problem. It was the first number to spell out a message in the area.

Among some of the other Agency activities included two (2) regular weekly radio programs, public service announcements on radio and television, and regular news releases on special topics throughout the year.

The Committee on Alcoholism & Drug Abuse for Greater New Orleans begins its 26th year of operation. Ashton Brisolaro of Waveland is the executive director.

Under-8 (played at Waveland Civic Field)

McDonald Realty defeated Coca-Cola 1-0. Coach Bernard Tusa of Coca-Cola said, "It was the first time we had a full team this winter to play a game, and we are looking forward to a rematch." Realty Coach Nancy Uram congratulated her team on a "well-played game."

Rotary Club defeated Pat's Chevron 5-0.

Nell Frisbie defeated American Legion Post 77. Frisbie Coach Mimi Heitzman cited the following players: Nicole Krost, team captain; Gwyn Krost, outstanding offensive player; Frank McGovern, outstanding defensive player; and Ben Guy, outstanding rookie.

Heitzman congratulated the following players for scoring goals: Cindy Harris, Steve Scianna, and Casey Heitzman. Legion Coach Pat Corbell cited Jason Roche outstanding scrapper.

The Rotary Club Strikers defeated the Sharon Raphael-coached Pat's Chevron Team by a score of 5-0 in afternoon play on Feb. 15.

Robby Lumpkin was credited with two goals and Luke Weems, Kenny Spansel, and Jerry Johnson were credited with one goal each.

Weems and Spansel were cited as the most valuable players for the game and Johnson was cited as the most improved offensive player for "adept aggressive performance" in the game.

On Feb. 16, the Rotary Team was plagued with injuries to Forward Lumpkin and to Goalie Jeremy Turcotte and were defeated by the Coca-Cola Team, 5-1.

Assistant Coach Richard Flowers cited the entire Rotary team for a "valiant effort."

Under-10 (played at Bay High Field)

Gateway Body Shop played Gentz Men's Wear to a scoreless tie. Gateway Coach Mark Boston cited Nicholas Kleinpeter, Nathan Middleton, and Drew Scaffidi for "excellence in soccer offense." Boston cited Brad Yanok and Allan Alliston for outstanding defense.

Take-One Video defeated Dental Health Services 1-0. Video Coach Bernard Tusa congratulated "his team for fine playing. It was a great game by both teams and it should be a good rematch next month."

Dental Health Coach—Jerry Peoples thanked "the entire team for a fine game." Peoples cited the following defensive players: Jerry Peoples, David Matheson, Doug Wheeler, and Matthew Pope.

Marco Builders defeated Hancock Hospital Stitches 5-1.

Under-12 (played at Waveland Elementary Field)

Loiacano's Health Club tied Alcan Cable 3-3.

CPC Design Build tied Bernard Construction 0-0.

Tigers to try new players in Feb. 28 spring games

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis Tigers will try out their new football recruits Friday, Feb. 28 in two spring games against Pearl River Central.

Both games will be played at the PRC field in Carriere, with the junior high kick-off scheduled for 5 p.m.

The high school varsity game will follow at 7 p.m.

The halftime of the high school game will feature a B-team scrimmage of about 20 minutes.

In the past, Bay High has faced county rival Hancock North Central in the spring game but has played against Pearl River Central during the regular season.

"We're expecting a good spring game against Pearl River. They're one of the stronger teams we play," said Bay High Head Coach Cleveland Williams.

Williams said the Tigers have almost 50 players out this year, including a few starters from last year's Deep South Conference 3-A Championship team.

"We'll be a little handicapped for the spring game because we still have some of our key boys on the basketball team, but we know where their abilities lie," the coach added.

"We also have most of our backfield returning this year."

He said their opponents at Pearl River are in roughly the same position as the Tigers, having lost quite a few players to graduation.

In addition to working with new players, Williams and Offensive Coach G.L. McRaney will be coaching their first game with a new assistant, Bob Lumpkin.

Lumpkin served five years as head coach of the Pass Christian Pirates and is returning to coaching after three years' absence from the sidelines.

He was also a defensive assistant at Pass Christian for two years and has coached at Pearl River Central Williams said Lumpkin will handle the defensive unit and some of the special teams this year.

SCORING PASS—Megan Uram of Dynamite blasts a pass over the defense of Lafayette Cobras which resulted in a score during weekend play in a Slidell Select Tournament. (Photo by Rachel Weinstein)

Dynamite takes one of three in Slidell Select Tournament

Dynamite, the Bay Area Youth Soccer Girls Under-12 recreational team, sponsored by Gifts-n-Gold, was invited by the Slidell Youth Soccer Club to participate in their select Mardi Gras Classic this past weekend, Feb. 15 and 16.

Select teams are made up of players who try out and are chosen because of their skills. Recreational teams are made up of anyone who wants to play, regardless of ability.

The select teams participating in the tournament were the Baton Rouge Liberté, Lafayette Cobras, and Slidell Strikers.

Dynamite, the only recreational team in the Girls Division, lost to Baton Rouge, the tournament champions, 4-1.

Jennifer Carter with an assist from Erin O'Brien, scored the goal which prevented a shutout.

The Lafayette Cobras, who shut out Dynamite three weeks ago 7-0, were held to a 3-1 victory this time by a much improved Dynamite team. Dynamite's goal was scored by Kim Weinstein with an assist by Megan Uram.

Dynamite bested the Slidell

Strikers 1-0 for a third consecutive shutout. The winning goal was scored by Monica Mailho.

RENEE LE BOURGEOIS

Cited for their outstanding defensive play throughout the weekend are Renee LeBourgeois, Amy Lee, Day Hays, Kristy Heitzmann, and goalie Susanna Cameron.

New slot limit set for Delta Lakes

Beginning Mar. 13 on Little Eagle Lake in Humphreys County and Mossy Lake in Leflore County, all black bass less than 15 inches must be returned to the lake immediately after capture.

The new fishing restrictions apply to the adjoining swamps in both areas, as well as Little Mossy Lake. The action was taken by the five-member Commission on Wildlife Conservation at a January meeting in Jackson.

According to a fisheries spokesman the new regulation will become effective Thursday, Mar. 13 and will expire Dec. 31, 1987, unless changed by the Commission.

In the areas affected by the new rule, all black bass over 15 inches may be kept, not to exceed a legal limit of 10.

Turkey calling test scheduled

The "First Annual Turkey-Calling Contest" will be held Saturday, March 1, at the University of Southern Mississippi with $2,500 in cash prizes to be awarded.

Registration will begin at 4 p.m. Saturday outside Room 116 of the College of Business Administration building on the USM campus. The Barq's Root Beer-sponsored events will follow a USM-sponsored turkey hunting seminar.

Six categories of competition will be open. An owl hooting contest will begin at 4:30 p.m. and a $10 entry fee is required.

At 5:45 p.m., the first turkey-calling contest will begin. Previous winners in turkey-calling championships are ineligible to participate in this closed division contest. A $10 fee is required to enter this competition.

At 7 p.m., the open turkey-calling contest will begin and a $30 entry fee required.

The gobbling contest is scheduled to begin at 9 p.m. with a $10 entry fee required.

Adult and child observers will be allowed admittance to the 4:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. contests. Adults must pay a $2 entry fee and children $1.

The deadline for entering a contest is 15 minutes prior to the listed contest starting times.

Prizes awarded will include trophies, donated by Stewart's Cameras in Hattiesburg, except for the open turkey-calling contest, in which winners will receive cash awards and trophies.

Barq's Root Beer of Hattiesburg donated $2,500 to be awarded to first through fifth place winners in the open division of the turkey-calling contest.

For information or to register, call 266-4201 or contact the USM Division of Lifelong Learning. Pre-registration can be completed in person in Room 306 of McLemore Hall or fees can be mailed to the Division of Lifelong Learning at Southern Station Box 5136, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406-5136. Make checks payable to USM.

CLASSIC RESTORATION—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Roberts of 316 Carroll Ave., Bay St. Louis will open their home during the Bay-Waveland Garden Club Tour Thursday, March 27 from noon to 4 p.m.. The Bay St. Louis tour is part of the 1988 Spring Pilgrimage sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs. The Carroll Avenue house, built in 1899 in a style reminiscent of the Victorian, was considerably run-down when purchased by the Roberts in 1979. Since that time, Larry and Carol Roberts have combined their antique furnishings with colorful paint schemes and added many unique touches. (Bay-Waveland Garden Club photo)

TOUR CANCELLATION—This Creole cottage located at 341 Main St., Bay St. Louis and owned by Dr. Larry Heller and Mr. Lawrence Timmerman is listed in the brochure for the Thursday, March 27 Bay St. Louis Tour of the 1988 Spring Pilgrimage sponsored by Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs. However, this stop, No. 8 on the program has been cancelled from this year's event but is scheduled for the 1987 tour, according to Pilgrimage officials. The cottage is one of four—two on each side of Main Street—which were built in the 1840s with two rooms side-by-side and front and rear galleries. The present owners have restored and furnished this cottage as near to the original as possible. General chairman of the Pilgrimage is Mrs. Clarence A. Evans of Waveland. Chairmen of the Bay St. Louis Tour co-sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club are Mrs. Paul A. Pursley of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Spurgeon C. Crosby of Waveland. (Bay-Waveland Garden Club photo)

Lady Golden Eagle basketball camp dates announced

HATTIESBURG—Girls in grades six through eight will have the opportunity to learn the basic fundamentals, team and individual concepts of basketball during an upcoming camp.

The University of Southern Mississippi will sponsor its Lady Golden Eagle Basketball Camp June 18-20 under the direction of Coach Kay James, Lady Eagles head basketball coach, and several outstanding high school and college coaches from throughout the south.

James has advanced the Lady Eagles into post-season play three of the last five seasons, finishing second in the Metro Conference last year.

Campers will register from 8-10 a.m. on June 18 in Reed Green Coliseum. The camp will cost $150 per camper. The fee includes meals, housing, student accident insurance, a camp T-shirt and awards.

Day campers may attend for a $115 fee. Team rates for five or more campers from the same school also are available.

For more information, contact the USM Division of Lifelong Learning by writing Southern Station Box 5136, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406, or call (601) 268-4201.

WHIPLASH INJURIES

Whiplash injuries, of course, occur from auto accidents, falls and fighting. They are associated with some degree of injury to ligaments and muscles along with pinched nerves. All such injuries of the neck can be serious and bring about dangerous malfunction within the nervous system. The science of Chiropractic has developed a special technology which promotes faster healing while minimizing the serious consequences of the condition. Every injury of this nature should be examined by a doctor of Chiropractic as he has the training and experience which qualify him to aid in rapid recovery.

WORLD OF GOD

Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice.

In every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.

And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.

Philippians 4:4, 6, 7

Parable of Jesus

Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon a rock:

And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: not: for it was founded upon a rock.

And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand:

And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it.

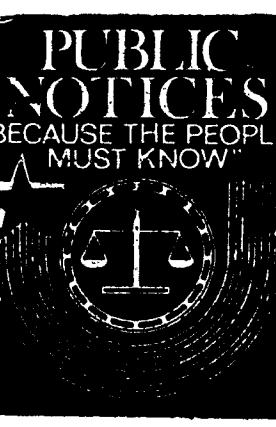

Matthew 7:24-27

Jesus said:

Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God.

John 3:3

For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;

Hancock County youths win in 4-H livestock shows

The District Livestock Show at Hattiesburg and the Dixie National Junior Livestock Roundup at Jackson were held recently.

Junior livestock judging participants included Toni Lynn Cuevas and Kelly Ainsworth, both participated in sheep judging contests. Toni Lynn placed fifth in individual scoring and won a blue ribbon while Kelly won a white ribbon for his efforts.

Ledell Ladner who was to participate in beef judging competition was unable to attend because of an illness.

Grandy Ladner and William Moran both showed Simmental cattle.

Grandy placed third in showmanship and his Junior Heifer won her class as well as reserve champion Simmental Heifer.

Gandy's spring bull also won his class and reserve champion Simmental Bull.

William's Heifer also won a blue ribbon.

All the livestock from Hancock County was declared eligible to participate in the Dixie National Junior Livestock Roundup.

Four county youths participated in judging competition at the Dixie National Junior Livestock Roundup. Tracy Ainsworth won a white ribbon for his efforts in the Dairy Judging Contest.

Larry Koenenn won a blue ribbon, while Leonard Koenenn and Joey Smith both won white ribbons for their efforts in livestock judging competition.

Grandy Ladner and William

Moran both showed their cattle but did not place in competition in Jackson.

These eight Hancock County youths conducted themselves in a manner that should make all of Hancock County proud. They should be commended for their efforts.

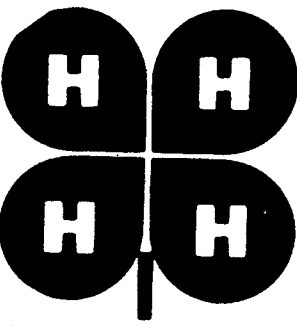

If you are between the ages of eight and 18 and would like to participate in the 4-H livestock program, or if you are an adult and would like to assist in the program, preparations are beginning now for the Hancock County Fair and Livestock Show to be held the last week in October.

For more information contact Daney Jackson, the 4-H youth agent, at 467-5456.

Parent Advisory Council observes Chapter I program

Members of the Chapter I Parent Advisory Council have observed the program now in operation at Waveland Elementary, St. Clare School, Bay Junior High and North Bay Elementary.

Funds are available through Chapter I for those students who have been identified as needing extra instructional help by their test scores on a normed achievement test. The funds are used for additional instruction in reading and/or math.

Instructional programs used in Chapter I are computer assisted instruction, programmed tutorial reading, and classroom aides.

Parent Advisory Council members making the observation, tour last week were Linda Penrose, Percy McKay, Antoinette Wright, and Dorothy McKay who toured the schools to see the program in practical application.

At North Bay Elementary the group met to discuss their findings with Dr. Betty Ann Jones, Chapter I coordinator.

Anyone interested in more information about this program may contact Dr. Jones through her office at North Bay Elementary, 467-0938.

Q. Do you still find LSD in Mississippi?

(B.S. Summit, MS)
A. Yes, as recently as last week our agency found some LSD being sold.

The general public opinion is that hallucinogens (LSD) are no longer around, but that is not true.

Even though hallucinogens have decreased in Mississippi, statistics show that they accounted for two percent of our case load in 1985.

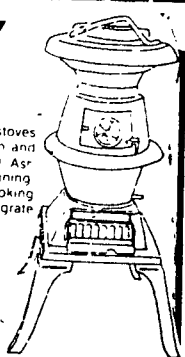

LSD is manufactured from lysergic acid and was discovered in 1938. It is one of the most potent mood-changing chemicals.

LSD is odorless, colorless, and tasteless. It is sold on the street in tablets, capsules, thin squares of gelatin ("window panes"), or added to absorbent paper ("blotter acid").

PUBLIC NOTICE
A Public Meeting will be conducted by the Bay St. Louis Board of Aldermen on Friday, February 22, 1986, at the City Council Chambers of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, to consider a resolution to amend the City of Bay St. Louis Ordinance relative to:

Commencing at the southwest corner of Lot No. 346 of the First Ward of the City of Bay St. Louis, MS, as per map on plat of said City on file in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, MS; thence North 29 degrees East 50 feet; thence North 29 degrees East 70 feet to the point of beginning; thence North 29 degrees East 80 feet to the Southern line of Carroll Avenue; thence South 70 degrees East along said Avenue 81 feet, more or less, to the northwest corner of the Episcopal Church property; thence South 29 degrees West 80 feet to the southwest corner of said Church lot; thence North 70 degrees West 100 feet or less, to the point of beginning. Being part of Lot 2, of the plan of partition of the lands of D. R. Carroll, deceased, situated in the City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi, in which plan or plat is recorded in Book R, Pages 185-201 of the Deed of Records of Hancock County, Mississippi.

Said variance concerns a reduction in required lot size to allow for construction of a dwelling.

Regional science fair slated in Coliseum

More than 1,200 elementary, junior high and high school students are expected to converge on the Mississippi Coast Coliseum April 4 for the Regional VI Science and Engineering Fair.

Two marine research programs, the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium and the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity (NORDA), have joined forces with the University of Southern Mississippi (USM) to bring the fair to the coast for the first time this year.

Region VI includes George, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River and Stone counties.

"Region VI competition has been hosted by the University of Southern Mississippi for the past 10 years, but it has outgrown facilities there," noted Region VI Director Sharon H. Walker.

"We are anticipating an excellent fair in our new location with the coliseum's exceptional facilities and the Coast community's enthusiastic support."

Walker is education specialist for the Sea Grant Consortium and served as co-regional director for the 1985 fair. Liaison for NORDA is Halcyon Morris, assistant director for NORDA's ocean sciences directorate.

Dr. Lawrence J. Bellipanni, USM assistant professor of science education and state fair executive officer, is also working with the regional competition.

Walker noted that local educators are serving as coordinators for elementary and secondary levels, organizing judging, orientation, animal and safety certification and award certificate distribution.

Elementary coordinators are Julia Lowery, Bel-Aire Elementary, Gulfport; Linda Mucha, Woolmarket Elementary; and Marilyn Carzoll, Ocean Springs Middle School.

Secondary coordinators are Dr. Shelia Brown, Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College, Jeff Davis Campus; Della McCaughan, Biloxi High School; and Bess Moffatt, Pascagoula High School.

Science and engineering projects entered in the fair are judged within classes grouped according to grade level and within areas of competition that range from behavioral science to zoology. Factors considered in judging are creativity, scientific thought or engineering goals, thoroughness, skill and clarity.

Eligible for state fair competition are students whose projects place first through third at the seventh or eighth grade level or first through fifth at the ninth through twelfth grade level at the Region VI competition.

The state fair is April 18-19 at Jackson State University.

At the Region VI competition, two finalists will also be selected to participate in an international fair May 11-17 at Fort Worth, Tex.

Grant funds ocean study

A $5,000 grant to the University of Southern Mississippi will fund a research project on sediments of the Indian Ocean floor.

Funded by the Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) in Bay St. Louis, the project is directed by Dr. Maurice A. Meylan, an associate professor of geology at USM.

"The research will give us more knowledge of properties of sea floors all over the world and of sound-reflecting characteristics in rocks," Meylan said, adding, "This, in turn, will aid in determining how safe it is to place submarines close to the ocean floor."

Meylan said the research will center around the Bengal Fan, a type of deep-sea delta formed by sediment from the Himalayas Mountains. He will determine the grain size, water content and sheer strength of sediments in the area, along with graduate student Lane Reynolds.
